

News Release

Austin Chamber of Commerce

Donya Dahmann, Public Relations Director

512.322.5637

ddahmann@austinchamber.com

www.austinchamber.com

Environmental Systems Corporation

Angie Droz, Marketing Communications Manager

865.688.7900 x1427

adroz@envirosys.com

envirosys.com

100+ NEW JOBS FOR CENTRAL TEXAS;

OPPORTUNITY AUSTIN WELCOMES ENVIRONMENTAL SYSTEMS CORPORATION

(Austin, Texas, October 13, 2010) – Environmental Systems Corporation (ESC), the industry leader for 40 years in premier environmental compliance software, recently opened an office in Austin, Texas. Officials at the Austin Chamber of Commerce announced that Environmental Systems Corporation is expanding its software development center to Austin, bringing 100-150 new jobs to Central Texas.

“We are pleased that Environmental Systems has chosen Austin for its expansion,” said Tim Crowley, 2010 Chairman, Opportunity Austin. “As a leader within the stack emissions compliance industry, Environmental Systems Corporation develops and delivers innovative software solutions that help create a healthier environment.”

In keeping with ESC’s commitment to provide customers with industry-leading software, abundant training opportunities and customer support in order to exceed expectations in every way, Austin was the logical choice when deciding where to open an additional office.

“After researching multiple cities across the nation, we are very excited to announce the opening of our office in Austin. Austin stood out to us as the clear choice for ESC based on the rigorous analysis from our city site selection process. Austin embodies many of the values upon which ESC was founded, plus it also has a strong technology and software community, and commitment to the environment. As we expand and continue to build products and services that make our planet and the communities in which we operate better places to live, we look forward to contributing to Austin and taking advantage of all that it has to offer. The great thing is, our customers will benefit from our Austin office as we benefit from Austin’s access to abundant software talent, which will strengthen our resource pool,” said Jack Missimer, ESC President.

For 40 years, ESC has been helping organizations document and report their compliance with clean air and environmental regulations. Headquartered in Knoxville, Tennessee, ESC is a privately-held company owned by Minneapolis-based Churchill Industries. ESC is a full-service company, providing an extensive line of products, services and training opportunities. ESC|CIMVision is a one-of-a-kind system which provides a simple, intuitive, fully integrated solution for Greenhouse Gas and all environmental compliance needs. ESC|StackVision, the premier CEMS compliance software, is the industry leader in stack emissions monitoring. ESC|FleetVision is the first off-the-shelf, commercial platform specifically designed for automated CEMS data aggregation.

ESC’s maintenance program, ESC|DASProtect, offers tiered levels of service so customers can pick the plan that best fits their specific needs and budget. Through web-based training opportunities and instructor-led courses, ESC|University provides customers with a working knowledge of ESC products, technology and regulations.

For additional information on ESC including information on products, services and events, please visit the ESC website at <http://envirosys.com/ourcompany/default.aspx>.

About Opportunity Austin

Opportunity Austin is the Chamber's five-year economic development initiative to foster sustainable growth through the creation of new jobs and increased payroll in the Central Texas region. The Austin Chamber's mission is to provide leadership that facilitates the creation of a prosperous economy and effective advocacy for its members.

About ESC

What values are ESC founded on?

- Rockin' Software - Nothing makes us more proud than seeing our blood, sweat and tears turn into a product for our customers. Nothing less will do.
- Chatter Boxes - That's right, communication is key. We want our employees and customers to tell us what is on their mind. We talk a lot, but like our motto says: ESC. We Listen.
- Customer Lovers - We love our customers and know they come to us by choice and so we strive to exceed customer expectations in our software, support, training and the list goes on and on.
- Difference Makers - ESC is proud to be in an industry where we are making a difference in the environment and no one has a hand in that difference-making more than our hard working employees.

###