“First, if it is not apparent to you yet, it will be soon: there is no magic bullet for this economic crisis, no magic bailout package, no magic stimulus... We are going to have to learn to live with a lot more uncertainty for a lot longer than our generation has ever experienced.”

Talent Development

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Austin Chamber's talent development programs cited as a national best practice.
 - The Chamber's 20,010 by 2010 initiative was a great success.
- Austin Community College has expanded aggressively and remains a critical training partner, but must improve performance data tracking.
- UT-Austin's space constraints continue to limit expansion of Central Texas public enrollment numbers but other universities are picking up the slack.
- Greater Austin's labor force participation rate has declined since 2009 and is lower than the national average of 75.3 percent.
- Talent shortages for software developers have recently surfaced.
- Companies still report challenges finding C-level talent.
- Chamber-commissioned study of 40 regional companies' workforce needs and dynamics will inform talent-development efforts.

Goal I Update Key Recommendations

Economic Development

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Fully leverage dynamic opportunities from Greater Austin Technology Partnership, including Special Interest Groups and Austin Live.
- Continue to increase Opportunity Austin's participation related to planning and programming of South by Southwest interactive (SxSWi) sessions, events, and panels.
- Assess the potential to invest in additional high-value attraction geographies to complement California.
- Consider revisiting certain lower-cost Opportunity Austin 2.0 international-development recommendations.
- Ensure development of Austin medical school.
- Pursue new target opportunities in Automotive Technology and Education Technology.

MARKET ST

Goal I Update Recommendations

Programmatic Awareness

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Develop a targeted internal campaign to increase awareness among Chamber and EDC board members and other key investors of the full breadth of Opportunity Austin programs and progress.
- Consider the future development of a broader campaign to improve public awareness of Opportunity Austin.

Goal II Update Key Recommendations

Talent Development

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Successfully brand, roll out, and implement the Austin Chamber's new talent development initiative.
 - Including successor to "20,010 in 2010" that raises direct-to-college performance expectations to 70%.
- Continue working with Austin Community College to ensure the system is optimizing its collection and use of data, degree-program development, and responsiveness to time-critical training needs.
- Ensure that Texas State continues to be a school of choice for Central Texas students.
- Consider investing in cost-effective talent attraction strategies.

MARKET ST

Goal III Update Key Recommendations

Infrastructure

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Aggressively restart and sustain the “Take on Traffic” effort to demonstrate a long-term commitment to build transportation capacity and reduce congestion in Greater Austin.
- Ensure that the $508 million water-treatment plant near Lake Travis is constructed on schedule and on budget.
- Support Austin Energy efforts to normalize the electricity costs paid by business users compared to residential users.
 - Advocate for rate reductions for high-volume users.

Performance Measurement

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Performance metrics developed pre-Recession do not reflect the reality of OA 2.0's implementation context.
- Perspective might be given to where metro Austin was before Opportunity Austin program launched in 2004 and where it is today.
- Where would Greater Austin's economy be if Opportunity Austin had never been developed and effectively implemented?

Context: Greater Austin in 2003

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Tremendous success had led Austin to become complacent
 - Chamber's economic development funds diverted for operations
 - Chamber's website for site selection and business relocation/expansion was "under construction" ...for over 5 years
 - City employee skipped meeting with Big 3 auto manufacturer visiting Austin for site search (Austin not even considered for Toyota plant)
- Then the tech "bubble" burst
 - Unemployment rose from 1.6% in December '00 to 5.7% in March '03
 - Population growth was 2.0% in 2002, the lowest rate since 1989. Net migration was essentially zero
 - Real per capita income fell in 2001, the first decrease since 1987
- Leadership "woke up" to realize that Austin wasn't in the game
 - Annual ED funding = $500,000
 - Chamber had ONE full-time staff member focused on economic development

Opportunity Austin: Early Impacts

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- Over $14 million raised for five-year Opportunity Austin program.
- Chamber ED staff expanded from 1 person to 12.
- City of Austin, Travis County and top school districts came together to begin offering economic development incentives
- Marketing efforts and outreach helped put Greater Austin back “on the map” for economic development
 - “Austin: The Human Capital” campaign and new website developed.
- Greater regional cooperation for economic development.
- Existing business program launched.
- Talent development program launched.

Final thoughts

MARKETSTREETSERVICES.COM

- The reality is that Greater Austin is perhaps the U.S.'s top performing economic region in recent years.
- While metro Austin has dynamic core assets and advantages, it cannot be assumed that these would solely drive the region's economy forward.
- Opportunity Austin has been – and will be – a key catalyst to capture the region's resources, develop and enhance public and private partnerships, and provide a strategic framework to make Greater Austin more competitive and successful.
